RE: Indiana Finance Authority's North Central Indiana Regional Water Study

Dear Colleague:

Earlier this year, the Indiana Finance Authority (IFA) began a study of the water resources in North Central Indiana. A companion study of the upstream Wabash Headwaters was initiated at the same time to ensure a comprehensive analysis of the river system. (See attached map of the study areas.)

The studies are nearing completion and include both current and projected future supply and demand levels. Because regional water assessment and planning may be of interest to you or to your constituents, we want to make sure you are aware of the study findings prior to their publication on the IFA website the week of January 6, 2025.

Please join us and the studies' consultants, Stantec Consulting Services and Jacobs Engineering Group, to learn more about North Central Indiana's water resources and share your thoughts. These studies represent an important effort in the long-term planning of statewide water resources.

Virtual meetings will take place on December 12, 2024 and December 16, 2024 from 11:00 am to 12:00 pm eastern time; the same information will be presented at each. If you would like to join one of the meetings, please register here https://bit.ly/IFA_Dec12 (for December 12) or here https://bit.ly/IFA_Dec16 (for December 16).

If you have questions related to the regional studies, please see the information provided on the IFA website at <https://www.in.gov/ifa/regional-water-studies/>.

Sincerely,

James P McGoff
