Hi Tess,

Thanks for contacting us about this. I think I caused confusion by sending out a press release earlier this week, encouraging citizens to visit the City Council's section of www.terrehaute.in.gov and apply for open Board and Commission spots. I didn't look at the actual application link, which I now see needs to be updated to reflect which spots the council will try to fill in the coming weeks. I jumped the gun.

There will be another effort made to get interested citizens to apply for City Council appointments when the site is ready to go. I'm sorry to be sending confusing signals.

On the mayoral appointment side: I just visited Brandon's excellent website, which is ready to accept applications for appointments (and has been doing so for weeks). Here's a link:

See you soon, Tess. Happy New Year!

Good evening all,

Would someone be kind enough to instruct on how to apply for appointments to the various boards available to receive appointments. I looked on the city council section and saw boards but no application process.

Happy New Year,

Tess Brooks Stephens
